DALE EVANS HOSTS COMPASSION TELEVISION SPECIAL

For the first time in its 18-year history, COMPASSION has produced a half-hour full-color television production. The program, called "The Children of Compassion," was produced in August and hosted by Dale Evans. It has been designed to attract new sponsors and supporters for our work. We produced the special for initial presentation in the Southern California area and throughout the state of Ohio.

The program was telecast in September in Columbus, Toledo, Cincinnati, Cleveland and Los Angeles. Pending the outcome of viewer response, the program will be presented in other select regions of the country in the future. Hopefully, these presentations will bring us many new supporters and sponsors at a time when there are thousands of needy children yet without our assistance.

We chose Dale Evans to host "The Children of Compassion" because she is a long-time supporter of destitute and needy children. She and her husband, Roy Rogers, have several adopted children — some of them from Korea, where our major effort is concentrated.

"The Children of Compassion" includes a short film segment from "The Man of Compassion," a sound and color film based on the life of our founder, the late Rev. Everett Swanson. Dale interviews Miriam Swanson and Rev. Harvey also in the program. At the conclusion of the special, a number of Compassion sponsors indicate what their sponsorship means to them.

We are grateful to the following who so graciously gave of their time to tell of their joys in being sponsors: From California — Mrs. Emma King of Westminster, Mrs. Lucille Lancia and Marcia Lancia of Walnut, and Mrs. Ruth Beaumont of Los Angeles; from Ohio — Rev. Byron Van Scyoc of Dayton, Mr. Lowell Raymond of Cleveland Heights, and Mrs. Carol Braun of Parma Heights.

In addition to the full-color special, we have launched a direct mail follow-up project. Using this type of approach (called a multi-media mix) should add impetus to the TV showings. We anticipate that TV stations in other areas of the country will also want to use this special program as a "public service" feature. A number of shorter spot announcements, on both radio and TV, have also been released throughout Ohio and in the Los Angeles area.

Dale Evans, nationally-known television, movie and radio personality, rehearses her lines prior to videotaping "The Children of Compassion." The special TV program was produced in the studios of KCOP-TV, Hollywood, California in August. Included in the set (extreme right, behind camera) are Miriam Swanson, Vice-President and the Rev. Henry Harvey, President of COMPASSION.

COMPASSION

If everyone were perfect in body, soul and mind,
Then the folks who had compassion would be mighty hard to find.
For each living thing that suffers is a challenge to the rest;
It's God's own way of measuring the kindness in your breast.

THE CHURCH

The testimony of Timothy Kim, Pastor of Leprosarium Church in South Korea

(A condensed reprint of a letter sent to COMPASSION by Pastor Kim, received early in 1970. Kim's conversion is one unlike anything this editor has ever heard. In a sense, his story parallels the life of the Apostle Paul, including his experience with the Lord on the Damascus Road, when he was blinded by a "great light.")

I was born on a small island, off Korea. My father was a poor farmer, and the traditional family background was strong Confucianism. Even though my parents belonged to this religion, I attended a Christian Sunday School, as many children did at that time.

At the age of 16, I left home and became a prodigal son, wandering here and there. I met some bad friends and began to smoke, drink and even steal with them. After a while, I moved to a further city where I gathered wandering boys and organized a gang group of about 15 boys and did the same thing. Drinking, stealing, beating boys and girls, and going to movie house was my daily life. Sometimes I was arrested by policeman and put in a prison for several days. I bought a jack-knife and threatened school boys and girls for their money and textbooks. Sunday and Wednesday evenings we would beat and take the Bibles and hymnals from Christian boys and girls. I burned all the Bibles and song books. Sometimes I threw stones in church windows while they were having worship service in the evening. About four years I spent my daily life with all those terrible sins.

But a very important turning point came to my sinful life. I well remember the day in March, 1958. It was a chilly Spring afternoon. I visited some relatives because I was not feeling so good. They tried to comfort me and told me to believe in Jesus Christ. I had to stay overnight because I did not have money and was far away from where I lived.

When I awakened in the morning, it was a beautiful day. It was Sunday, and 10 o'clock in the morning. I heard church bells, and a strange feeling passed by my heart and mind. All of a sudden, I felt strong headache and high fever, and was seized with a cramp. In falling into a trance, I shouted to give me medicine and call a doctor for me. They called a doctor, and he examined me and said that I had high fever, 41°C. (105.8°F.), and should have died.

I remembered one Sunday school lesson; Jesus healed sick people. I asked them to bring pastor and Christians and pray for me. My lip was hardened and could not cry, but I shouted to myself, "Oh God, help me and heal me, then I will follow You

... " I was lost in a trance and did not know what happened to me.

I was told that I was completely "dead" for about half an hour, when I awoke from this strange spell. My relatives and Christians were so happy and shouting praises to God as I opened my eyes and stared around. I now felt well and all right, and I felt happiness in my heart.

On that day, I was born again. I confessed all of my sins and asked Jesus to forgive me. I made up my mind to witness the Lord to those who were in my gang group. I prayed and sang with my Christian relatives and friends, delightfully and happily. The Lord Jesus Christ came into my heart, and I became a child of God through the blood of Jesus Christ. That was my second birthday.

The next day I began to witness the Lord to my bad friends. They were so surprised and said to me, "Crazy boy!"

The Lord led me to an orphanage which was supported by COMPASSION. My spiritual life grew day by day as I participated in the morning and evening devotion and also attended church regularly. At that time I met Rev.

Everett Swanson, founder of COMPASSION. It now became possible for me to go to high school three years through his good help, and I was happy God opened the door for me to study.

The Lord blessed me little by little and opened another door for me to have a college education, and then a seminary course.

In 1964, I visited a leprosy colony and was deeply moved with the needs of these afflicted people and wanted to do something for them. That was the reason I gathered them and established a village for settlement and started a church for them. About 230 church members, adults and children, attend the church, and I am pastoring and feeding them with the Word of God. Though we have had difficulties, the Lord has blessed me and my ministry for the lepers. My desire and prayer is that I might establish a technical institute for them.

I am giving thankfulness to God and praising His mighty Name for His saving power and merciful grace upon me. By His grace, I am preaching the Gospel of Jesus Christ now, and I am so happy for that.

CANADIAN CONGRESS ON EVANGELISM

COMPASSION presented a splendid exhibit at the recent Canadian Congress on Evangelism, held August 24-28, 1970, in Canada's beautiful capital city of Ottawa. COMPASSION's representation was headed by Mrs. Janet Forsyth, President of COMPASSION OF CANADA, LTD., accompanied by Glenn Cleveland, Canadian Board Member, Mrs. Miriam Swanson, Vice-President, COMPASSION, INC., Chicago, and Donald J. Smith, Director of Stewardship and Promotion.

Among the outstanding speakers in the Congress were Dr. Leighton Ford, Archbishop Coggan, Mr. Dennis Clark, M. Ferrand St. Louis, Dr. Carl F. H. Henry, and Dr. Samuel Escobar.

Dr. Leighton Ford reminded the Congress that while social action and evangelism are not identical, neither can they be completely separated. Reference was made to Dr. Samuel Escobar's brilliant and penetrating address, "The Social Responsibility of the Church," delivered a year ago at the Latin American Congress on Evangelism in Bogota. He noted: "Our sermons and tracts urge the drunkards to leave their liquor, the thieves and delinquents to leave their ways, disobedient children to respect their parents. What does our message say to the exploiters of the Indians, the abuse of capitalists, to corrupt police, to dirty politicians? Isn't it a sin or an indication of sin to be comfortably indifferent in the face of the suffering of the masses of our continent?"

"Service is not evangelism. Men, whatever their social class, economic condition or political position, need to know that God loves them and that Christ offers them the way to return to God. Rich and poor, capitalist and worker, military and politician, all need to hear the call to repentance and faith. To proclaim the Good News by preaching, personal testimony, literature and Bible distribution is always necessary, here and now, by every believer. But he who evangelizes has a different life. He is someone who has learned to serve. He is a living letter who shows forth the truth and the applicability of the message he proclaims. We can never separate the proclamation of the Gospel from the demonstration of that Gospel. They are different but both are indispensable."

Mr. Dennis Clark, outstanding Canadian missionary statesman, declared that the colonial period in world missions is over! More and more world missions must be carried on by national Christians in each country.

The COMPASSION representation was delighted that COMPASSION, INC. is fulfilling the contemporary requirements for a significant Christian witness in world missions. We are aware that little credence is given to our Christian profession if it has no natural compassion (in both thought and deed) for the world's sinful and sinned-against. Personal salvation and Christ-like compassion are inseparable where personal salvation is authentic and growing.

COMPASSION, INC. offers Christians everywhere an avenue to manifest their redemptive concern for children around the world who are destitute socially and needy spiritually. Please continue to support this God-ordained ministry through your prayers, financial stewardship, and words of encouragement.

SPECIAL MEMO

FROM YOUR EDITOR...

At the time of the printing of this issue of your magazine, Miriam Swanson, Vice-President, and yours truly are about to complete a two-and-a-half-month round the world trip for COMPASSION. (The journey began in mid-September and will end sometime in late November.) This globe-circling trip has taken us into all the major areas where we serve needy children, plus other places where we hopefully may begin in the future.

We embarked on this venture for a variety of reasons. We feel that our sponsors deserve to be kept up-to-date on what is happening in the areas where they are supporting children. In addition, we will be gathering information for future publication and for presentation over radio and television, for the purpose of attracting new support.

Armed with a tape recorder, still and movie cameras, we expect to come back with an excellent variety of information that will be useful in many ways. Of course, we will keep you our sponsor uppermost in mind as we report our impressions in your magazine. Miriam will also be selecting a fine group of talented Korean children in preparation for next Spring's American tour. In addition to South Korea, our scheduled journey will take us into Indonesia, Taiwan, Thailand, India, and throughout the Caribbean on the swing homeward.

How does one put into words impressions of such a trip? It won't be easy, but we will do our best. After all, we are here to serve you, and we feel that the planning of this exhausting and "fact-finding" journey will indeed pay off in the kinds of material and information about which you will want to hear. For a long time to come, we will find much to tell you about.

MAN WITH A HEART...

In the center of the "heart" is a man with a true Heart of Compassion — and a concern for the welfare and ministry of these ten Korean evangelists.

This retired Wisconsin sponsor, who wishes to remain unnamed, is supporting all these men! He has been associated with our COMPASSION ministry for more than 15 years, all the while supporting native evangelists. He feels that he receives the most value for his money by providing this kind of support.

Asked if he ever would like to visit Korea and these evangelists, he responded by saying, "I would rather stay home and use the money to help support their ministry." (It currently costs $22.00 per month to support each evangelist.) We also asked him if Uncle Sam ever questioned the deductions on his income-tax returns. "It's not a problem now," he said, "but each year for 15 years I was called in about these deductions. I finally gave up and enlisted the help of a tax specialist."

Perhaps the greatest blessings that this sponsor receives, month by month, are the heart-warming reports which "his" workers send him regarding their accomplishments. Only eternity will reveal the souls who have been born again through the ministry of these evangelists. All of us at "home-base" can only marvel at this kind of faithfulness. We daily praise our Lord for this dedicated man who has an overflowing heart of Christian compassion!

IN CASE YOU DON'T FEEL SO GOOD . . .

These girls, along with their Korean assistants, make up our nurses team in South Korea. This group keeps a constant vigil over the health of all the children. Definitely these young ladies are a most vital part of our COMPASSION effort.

FROM DEGRADATION TO DIGNITY

The true story (from our COMPASSION files) of a Korean orphan boy who made good — thanks to a dedicated sponsor from Massachusetts.

About ten years ago, a kindhearted person in Acton, Massachusetts, heard about our work and immediately expressed an interest in sponsoring an orphan student. COMPASSION arranged for this new sponsor to get in touch with a high school student in Seoul whose name was Kim Chang Ui.

Upon hearing the good news that he now had an American sponsor, Chang Ui was thrilled and delighted! His life-long dream of acquiring a higher education would now come true! Chang Ui knew, as do most Koreans, that education is a luxury for them. He also knew that if he were to make a place for himself in society, he would need further education.

Chang Ui had the incentive to study hard and to do his best in school. Because of the substantial contributions made by his sponsor, Chang Ui graduated from Kon Kuk University in Seoul with a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1968. However, his college degree was not to be the end of his studies. His sponsor continued to assist him in his graduate work. In February, 1970, Chang Ui received his Master of Arts degree from Korea University in Seoul. Today, this former orphan boy is a member of the faculty of the Presbyterian General Assembly Theological Seminary in Seoul. He is a much-respected librarian and instructor at the Seminary.

Young Chang Ui might simply have grown up to be a bus driver in busy Seoul, or a common laborer, breaking rocks as a member of a road gang, or trudging through rice paddies as a field-hand, ankle deep in mud. Kim Chang Ui, just another orphan in 1964. Today, a successful career man — but only because of the dedication of one sponsor who desired to share her blessings!

P.S. This sponsor has counted it a privilege and blessing to have a part in the growth and education of Kim Chang Ui. Her comment: "Having a share in this ministry has been my pleasure!"

A Final Word on W-A-R-M

Pardon us for making so much mention of our 1970 WARM project, but we wish to review it again, right now, for two reasons.

First, we wish to thank all of you who have donated your hard-earned money during the current WARM drive. Your kindness once again makes it possible to provide complete winter outfits for the needy children in our areas of service.

Secondly, we must report that still a goodly number of little ones will be without such items of clothing — unless someone provides the funds. Could it be that, with the best of intentions, you just somehow never got around to giving?

As we have mentioned before, if you can send us $16.00, we will send you by return mail a set of eight hand-crafted Korean place-card figurines. If you can send $50.00, we will send you, in addition to the figurines, a special Korean hand-carving eight inches tall! Both gifts will be treasured conversation pieces in your home. Once again we mention WARM — only because we do not wish any of our children to go without a new outfit of clothes this Christmas.

We thank you for your patience, your gifts and good support throughout 1970. May all the joys of this great holiday be yours — and may you rest in the One Who holds the hope of the world in His Hands!

LITTLE GEMS from our LITTLE ONES

(Our daily mail brings countless bits of correspondence from the children we support in many parts of the world. All mail exchange between sponsor and child passes through our Chicago office. Here are some gleanings from a typical batch of mail. Your editor wants to share with you these direct quotes from the children, as seen through the eyes of the local interpreters. We hope you'll enjoy them as much as we have. Bless their little hearts!)

"My dear mother and father . . . I am growing fast . . . do you want to see me grow? Your son, Kim Sun Soo." (Korea)

"You asked me how tall I was. I am 57.5 inches. I feel my tall is growing a little bigger than last year." (Korea)

"I like reading and math and I help my father plow the rice fields . . . then I go fishing. I would like to catch a crocodile and send it to you. Sion Sianturi." (Kisaran, Indonesia)

"I hope you are in good condition. I like studying to become clever. Every Sunday I go to church from our house. It's not far — only 50 miles." (Indonesia)

"I am learning a skill on making glass as a trainee. I chose this way to find the royal road to stand on my own legs. Hong Choon Maan." (Korea)

"Our teachers are eight, but the school building is out of order, so we must borrow the church. Josep Natan." (Indonesia)

"We went on a picnic in the mountains. I saw some nimble squirrels. Do you know what squirrels are? Choi Nak In." (Korea)

"There are many children in my class and the teacher is a patient woman. We have a nice bird but he is fierce. Teng Giak Hie." (Bahasa, Indonesia)

"Today I had argument with my friend in school. I think I better apologize to him. I pray for you sincerely. Jung Hayng Ran." (Korea)

"We live in a little and ugly house . . . but we love the Lord." (Indonesia)

WELCOME ABOARD!

LYNETTE WALTERS and DIANNE BRIGGS

Lynette Walters, conferring with Mrs. Laura Merle Galen, President Harvey's secretary, regarding her new overseas post.

Lynette Walters, one of the newest additions to our COMPASSION staff, is now in charge of our financial disbursements in Indonesia. From her "home-base" at Djakarta, she will not only care for the proper distribution of sponsor money, but will also regularly visit our fields of work in Java, Borneo, the Celebes, and Bali.

Lynette learned about our Indonesian need through the CHRISTIAN SERVICE CORPORATION, a four-year-old Washington, D.C. agency, which sometimes is called "The Peace Corps of the Church." A native of England and a graduate of St. Godric's Secretarial College in Hampstead, England in 1955, Lynette migrated to Toronto in 1960 and from there to various secretarial and business positions in the States. She came to COMPASSION from the WORLD BANK, an agency of the United Nations, with headquarters in Washington, D.C.

Incidentally, travel is nothing new to Lynette. In 1965 she took a bus ride from Bombay to London! She covered the 10,000-mile journey in two months. "It was a great experience for me," says Lynette. "It's a great way to see the various countries." In her numerous travels, she already has traveled around the globe twice. Her coming is another sign of the ever-increasing responsibility and outreach of COMPASSION's ministry world wide.

DIANNE BRIGGS is a long way from Russel, Pennsylvania, her home town—since she is now in South Korea, serving as secretary-bookkeeper in our Seoul headquarters office. (Her "boss" is Wally Erickson.)

Dianne received a Bachelor of Arts degree in history from Roberts Wesleyan College in North Chili, New York in 1969. She has a great zest for children—and also hopes to become a Girl Scout Brownie leader in Seoul.

We say "Welcome aboard" to Dianne and Lynette. May the Lord bless you each day as you serve Him through COMPASSION's ministry!

READY AND WILLING TO SING

Left to right: Billy (Pak Il Choon, 10 years, from Home #178); Lisa (Lee Bok Nyo, 7 years, Home #178); Becky (Pak Sun Ja, 5 years old, Home #63); Carol (Pak Myung Sun, 12 years, from Home #103); Lori (Chun Soon Ja, 11 years, Home #132) and Danny (Joo Kwang Shik, 10 years, Home #122).

These happy Korean children have just been selected by Mrs. Miriam Swanson, Vice-President of COMPASSION, to go on a tour with her beginning the latter part of January. The itinerary will include Hawaii and California, and possibly other states along the West Coast. Programs will be presented primarily at churches.

Mrs. Swanson wrote regarding this little choral group, "We feel we have a great group of tour children this time. We have Billy and Lisa, who were on previous tours, and four others. We have a little doll who will really 'steal the show.' The records show Becky was born in 1965, but that's hard to believe because she looks like about three. She is as fat as a butterball and the cutest little thing you ever saw — not especially pretty, but lovable, and with such a winning personality. Her singing is so cute, and she has her own way of pantomiming each song. I had the two oldest children sing a duet at our audition. It made goose bumps all over me as I listened to them sing a duet, even though they had never sung together before and just met one another that day. They are now living with Mrs. Chang and will be getting their training for the tour. One girl sings English, and her enunciation is beautiful."

As soon as the tour itinerary is ready, sponsors who live in the areas to be visited will be informed regarding the schedule.

From New Bern, North Carolina comes the following letter:

"I have been the sponsor of a little Indian girl for some time. It has been the greatest blessing in my life. I have just as much concern for this precious little girl as if she were my own child. I also am concerned about the high mortality rate of children in India, plus the incredibly small number of doctors and medical facilities in that land."

From Beaver Dam, Wisconsin—this testimony:

NOW...A WORD FROM OUR SPONSORS

"Our prayers are with you daily . . . that He may bless you all . . . the children, their teachers and you dear people who are so concerned about the poor orphans."

And from Kidron, Ohio:

"We cannot express in words just what our child's lovely letters mean to us . . . we are attempting to encourage her in the Christian life in every way we can. Enclosed please find some money for a special Christmas gift for her."

A sad note from Sellersville, Pennsylvania:

"In May of this year, my husband, who was a helicopter pilot in Vietnam, was shot down and killed. On that precise same day, he had written and told me that our intended adoption of a Vietnamese orphan was in the final stages. Of course, his death can- celled out the plan. In his memory, we would like to sponsor one of your needy children instead. I believe in what you are doing and trust that you are sincerely carrying out God's work for these precious children."

And finally, from Lowry Air Force Base, Colorado:

"Thank you for giving me the opportunity of helping a child who needs it so much. I would like to visit her after I get out of the Air Force . . . please tell me how it would be possible."

MAKE YOUR MEMORIAL GIVING...

We are pleased to announce that our office has new memorial folders available now for your use. You may wish to make a contribution to COMPASSION's ministry in memory of a friend or relative. To do this, simply write to our Chicago headquarters requesting the memorial packets. We will send the number requested by return mail.

This is certainly a meaningful way to make a living tribute to a departed loved one. (You may use the following coupon to order, if you wish.)

Wally Erickson

This past summer, Wally Erickson was kept busy while he was home on leave. We were able to arrange for him to appear on a number of radio and television programs throughout the Chicago area.

Well-known radio personality Jack Eigen of WMAQ, Chicago, talked with Wally during one of Jack's late-night programs. The broadcast, which was carried "live" for two hours on the evening of July 14, was heard in 38 states.

Said Jack at the end of the interview, "You folks will sleep better tonight if you'll help out COMPASSION. Write to them right now and tell them you would like to sponsor a child."

Wally also appeared on NBC-TV in Chicago and over Radio Station WBBM, plus a number of other stations. COMPASSION is grateful for all of this free public-service time being devoted to our work.

A MESSAGE

ABOUT YOUR WILL

from Donald J. Smith, Director of Stewardship and Promotion

Procrastination — An Enemy of God and Man

One of the main barriers which hinder people from making a will is procrastination — or "putting it off." Procrastination causes many well-meaning people to die intestate (without a will). As you know, when this happens the State takes over and makes the final determination of the deceased person's estate. In some cases, huge and unnecessary costs are levied against such an estate in the form of taxes and litigation expense. Seldom would the State's decision satisfy the desires of the deceased or his family. Never would the State direct any of the deceased's estate to his religious or charitable interests.

Your will is very important to your family, especially if your children are minors. The State must arrange for their guardianship if provision has not been made through your will. In our day of high-speed travel, it is not unusual for both parents to be lost in a common disaster.

Christian people desire to do God's will through their wills. They often feel God directing them to remember their church, college, world mission, and comparable ministries in their wills. In this way they allow their lives to render continued influence for Christ and His Kingdom.

These are only a few reasons why you should not take the "line of least resistance" and procrastinate further concerning your will.

At least four obstacles are part of the lack of decision and the resultant procrastination in making a will. These are:

1. Low motivation — one does not see the immediate need or urgency.
2. Lack of information — inadequate and / or incorrect idea regarding wills.
3. Seemingly complicated procedure — in the absence of a simplified method for summarizing one's estate.
4. Apparently too costly legal fees at present time — attorney's cost is no more than you leave available in immediate cash.

COMPASSION can help you overcome all of these obstacles. Write today for information concerning this free service available through COMPASSION, INC.
